Hello Jane,

Just got back to the office today after two weeks being away and am still working my way through the emails. As feared, Hong Kong turned out to be a busman's holiday - I ended up spending most of my time at the office, getting ready for Cologne. The presentation went very well there though. People there were far less creative, I am afraid, and preferred other mundane activities such as wine tasting.

Thanks for following up regarding the bioanalytical technique training, I am still very interested. One to two days would fit my schedule very well. Is it possible to have a list of topics to be covered (and cost - if any)? There is at least one other colleague I can think of who would be interested in this. With the information you provide, I will get the official approval from management to move forward. Regarding dates, last two weeks of September and October (not the first week) are fine with me.

Thanks very much. Talk to you soon.

Regards,

Raymond

Hello Raymond

I hope you enjoyed your brief holiday in Hong Kong and spending time with your family.

During your last visit to Lincoln we discussed setting up some information sessions on bioanalytical techniques. If you are still interested, we can arrange something for September/October dependent upon your schedule. I expect that training would last about one day, so it will not take too much time out of your busy schedule. Let me know if you want me to set this up and some dates that would be good for you.

Hope the meeting in Germany is going well and that your presentation was successful. Do you have all your colleagues doing crafts?

Kind regards

Jane
